

120V GFI duplex receptacle, located on the side of the panel, provides auxiliary power for other devices.

Interior dock lights can be powered through control panel and can be programmed to operate before dock operations begin.

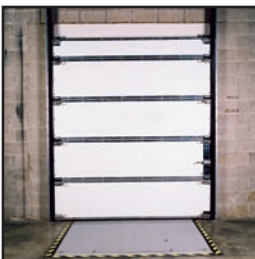

Integral maintenance disconnect cuts power to the control panel for routine service and maintenance; two styles available.

Vehicle restraints are controlled through the Master Control Panel and interlocked with other dock devices to prevent operation until the trailer is securely locked in place.

Leveler functions are interlocked with other dock devices to prevent operation until all the safety systems are operational and the dock doors are opened.

Exterior dock doors are controlled and monitored for increased dock security and prevention of accidental door damage.

Serco Master Control Panels can be customized with bilingual labels for clearer communication on operating instructions.

Serco Master Control Panel can be customized to operate auxiliary equipment such as door heater and air curtains and can be customized with company logos.

Inflatable seals and shelters are sequentially controlled and monitored for increased environmental efficiency and security.

